Clutch Group Launches ClutchView, a Cutting-Edge Document Review Quality, Metrics and Reporting Tool

Clutch Group's new ClutchView reporting tool was designed internally to complement the LPO's ISO 9001:2008 certified workflow processes.

Washington, DC March 17, 2010 -- In a move to provide its clients with the most advanced and intuitive solutions for managed document review, global legal services leader Clutch Group has introduced ClutchView, a proprietary software platform that allows clients to manage their e-discovery projects with an unprecedented level of data and control. ClutchView is a sophisticated metrics tool designed exclusively by Clutch Group's in-house team, ensuring that it integrates seamlessly with the company's industry-leading workflow processes. Clutch Group's ISO certified document review methodologies drive superior levels of accuracy, efficiency and overall value for their clients.

"ClutchView puts an unparalleled level of information and control at the fingertips of our document review service clients," said Clutch Group CEO Abhi Shah. "Its release is just the latest innovation to result from our steadfast commitment to developing process driven solutions and implementing the most advanced technology."

ClutchView presents the progress data of e-discovery projects in a user-friendly format, allowing clients to review project metrics like productivity rates, error rates and comprehensive data on specific document reviewers. The software identifies and charts trends in a variety of categories, which helps clients determine whether to adjust the speed of a project or make changes to their document review teams, as well as whether there are areas of a case that deserve a more targeted focus. ClutchView also automatically plots the overall progress of each project, allowing for more accurate estimates of final completion dates.

The powerful capabilities of ClutchView contributed to Clutch Group's successful effort to earn the ISO 9001:2008 certification, the most recent quality management system standard released by the International Organization for Standardization (ISO). Auditors from Det Norske Veritas (DNV) India, an independent auditor headquartered in Norway, thoroughly reviewed all of Clutch Group's service verticals during the audit, including its document review services. "Clutch Group's noteworthy effort in the selection and configuration of the ClutchView tool demonstrates the company's steadfast commitment to the continuous improvement of its quality management system," said DNV Auditors Nanjappa Bangalore and Uday Nagarkatti.
